Diving Anilao & Yap

Two Pacific Destinations. Two Different Dive Experiences.

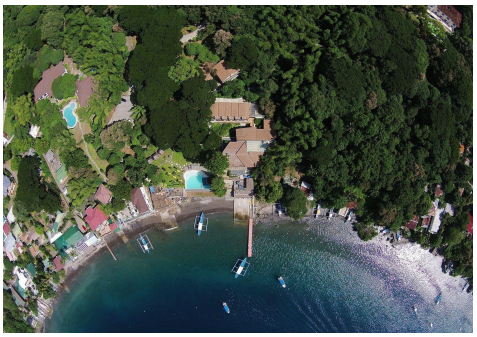

Travel with Ada and Jeff from Anilao in the Philippines to Yap in Micronesia. Anilao's reefs and muck-diving areas offer opportunities to look closely for small marine life. Yap adds coral reefs, manta-diving opportunities and a distinctive Pacific island culture.

The package combines seven nights at Aiyanar Beach & Dive Resort with seven nights at Manta Ray Bay Resort & Yap Divers. Included diving is six days of two-tank boat dives in Anilao and five days of three-tank dives in Yap, with free Nitrox in Yap.

The listed stay dates are October 29-November 14, 2027; international travel days are separate. Advanced Open Water is recommended. Sites, currents, schedules and wildlife encounters depend on conditions and the operators. Optional night, blackwater and additional dives cost extra.

Before You Go

Are flights included in these dates?
No. International travel days are separate. The current outline estimates departure October 27 and return November 15, 2027; confirm routing with UWW before buying flights.

Can I add dives or change rooms?
Room upgrades and single/non-diver rates are available on request. Six extra Anilao boat dives are listed at $180; other optional dives and activities are extra.

What paperwork and coverage do I need?
Complete the UWW travel waiver. Dive accident insurance from any provider is required; DAN membership is not required by UWW. Comprehensive trip and travel insurance is strongly recommended.
